

WINDOW COVERING SAFETY MONTH

SAMPLE SOCIAL MEDIA POSTS

- Did you know: Corded window coverings are called one of the top hidden hazards in American homes. Go cordless to prevent accidents with infants and young children.
- Babyproofing? Take a minute and read through this childproofing checklist for dangers you might not consider! <https://bit.ly/2ErmtUW>
- October is Window Covering Safety Month! Parents - check your window coverings for exposed or dangling cords and go #CordlessforKids to help eliminate safety hazards to infants and young children.
- Little hands are curious, but we can make sure some things are never in reach. Watch the PSA. <https://bit.ly/4j7zwvy>
- Parents, inspect your window coverings to check for exposed or dangling cords - switch to cordless options to prevent accidents.
- Updating to cordless window coverings is easy - look for the Best For Kids logo on products nationwide. <https://bit.ly/2XXMCT3>
- National Window Covering Safety Month reminds parents and caregivers to check their window coverings for exposed or dangling cords which can pose a hazard to infants and young children. Find out more > <https://bit.ly/4mcnLC6>

Tag WCSC!

Facebook: @windowcoverings

Twitter: @cordsafety

Instagram: @windowcordsafety

Hashtags: #CordlessforKids #BestforKids #WindowCoveringSafetyMonth
#GoCordless